ARMY OF THE POTOMAC. The Enemy Crossing the South Anna—The Union Forces in Close Pursuit-Firing Heard at Port Royal—Successful Cavalry

Expedition. [Correspondence of the Associated Press.] HEADQUARTERS, ARMY OF THE POTOMAC,

May 23.—The advance of the army reached the North Anna yesterday forenoon, the 5th corps arriving by the telegraph road from Guiney's Station, along which they had followed the enemy for several miles, skirmishing at different points, and capturing a number of prisoners. Ewell's corps were in the rear of the retreating foe, and when they got to the North Anna they took position behind earthworks on both sides of the river. The 2d corps having had the advance on the Bowling Green road, re-mained at Milford on the 22d, and at ! p. m. yesterday came up and took position on the left of the 2d corps, reaching the railroad. On examination it was found the enemy held a strong position on the south bank of the river, with their advance on a peninsula formed by a small stream, which emptied into the river near the railroad crossing. Barlow's division occupied the right of the railroad, Birney in front of the peninsula, and Gibbon on the right, while the 5th corps were on the road leading to the ford, a mile to the right.

Skirmishing in front of Birney commenced about 2 p. m., and at 4 the batteries got to work and shelled the enemy, while Birney's division were ordered to charge and carry the works, and, it possible, get possession of the bridges across the river. The charge was made in splendid style, and, although met with a shower of bullets from the rifle pits, as well as shells from the batteries on the opposite side of the river, our men never halted until the enemy were driven across the bridge, and our guns placed so as to command it.

Some of the men even went half-way across, and one was seen with a rebel flag, who was forced to throw it into the river to prevent its recapture. The highest praise was given to the division and its General by General Hancock, for the gallant manner in which it stormed and carried this strong position. The contest continued until after dark, each party maintaining their line. Our loss in this action was about 250 in killed and wounded. The loss of the enemy was full as heavy as our own, and we took a number of prisoners. About 5 p. m. Gen. Warren effected a crossing, and, taking a position on the south bank. threw up some breastworks. Soon after, he was attacked by a large force of rebels, whom he drove back with heavy loss, their dead and wounded lying thick on the ground in front of our lines after they retreated. Our loss here was upwards of 300 in killed and wounded. About dark Gen. Burnside's corps came up and took position between Hancock and War-ren, and made preparations to cross. Every body felt in good spirits and confident of a victory on the coming day.

May 21.—The army advanced at an early hour this morning, but the enemy were found to have fallen back during the night, and the skirmish line was captured after the first round. It was suspected that this might be a ruse, and caution was exercised as the troops advanced. Skirmishing took place at several points, but the 2d corps had met no force of the enemy up to 2 p. m., at which time your correspondent left the front. General Warren had advanced some two or three miles, the enemy in his front seeming determined to dispute his advance, although probably falling back 8 p. m .- A messenger who left the front at 6 o'clock this afternoon reports the enemy cross-ing the South Anna, with our troops in close pursuit. Upwards of six hundred prisoners have been brought in since yesterday, and Firing was heard tols morning in the direction of Port Royal; and it was supposed to be from a rebel battery, which is reported to have been placed at a point twelve miles below Fredericksburg. Two gunboats went down the river last night, and it is thought they may have been attacked, in the hope of sinking An orderly of General Lee was brought into headquarters to-day, on whom was found a dispatch to General Ewell from General Lee, ordering him to fall back rapidly to the detenses of Richmond A lientenant taken two days ago said his brigade had been at Plymonth and at Drory's Bluff, and after fighting Butler was sent at once to join Lee's army in front of Grant. The colonel made a speech on Saturday evening, as soon as they arrived, telling them they must reach Richmond by Monday at 10 a. m, or the "damned Yanks" would be there before This afternoon a detachment from the cayalry expedition, under Sheridan, arrived at headquarters, announcing the safe return of the command across the Pamunkey last night, and that they would arrive to-night. Gen. Custar's division cut the railroad twelve miles below Hanover Junction on the 21st, burning two bridges, and tearing up a mile of the track. He encountered a body of the rebel cavalry behind barricades, but could not induce them to come out and attack him. The party had to build a bridge across the Pamunkey, at the White House, which they did in twenty-four hours. The entire command passed safely over it. The horses of the expedition are pretty well

GENERAL CONFERENCE METHODIST

EPISCOPAL CHURCH. In this body, in session in Philadelphia, on Monday last a somewhat excited discussion roce in reference to a statement that the joural of the Baltimore Conference, for 1861, had been "stolen by a disloyal member." This was amended by inserting "been withdrawn by the secretary of the conference." Rev Mr. Lanahan, of the Baltimore Conferer co, lavored he amendment, because the language was more becoming a calm, deliberate body of Christian ministers.

Rev. Col. Moody said he believed that Mr. Lanahan had and did sympa hize with the re-bellion. That was his private opinion publicly Rev. Mr. Peck, of California, defended Mr.

Lanahan. He said that any man who resided on the border and had stood up as nobly as Mr. Lanahan had, was far above any such remark as had been applied to him. This remark was loudly applauded by the conference. Rev. Mr. Lanaban also replied. He had but one record, and that stood without a blot. He repudiated every and all charges of disloyalty, and had in his pockets to-day records from the War Department at Washington thanking him for the services he had rendered the Govern-

Col. Moody endeavored to explain, but the Conference would not permit, a motion to adjourn being carried. On Tuesday, the above subject came up again, and-

Rev. Col. Meody rose immediately after the reading of the journal, and claimed the privilege of making an explanation, in continuation of what he wished to say when the Conference adjourned the day previous. He called attention to a misapprehension. The debate on Monday came up on a report from the Committee on Itinerancy, that the journal of the Baltimore Conference for 1861 had been stolen by a disloyal member, now a notorious seces-sionist in the rebel ranks. It was then moved that the report be amended by inserting "The journal was withheld by the Secretary of that Conference." This Mr. M. opposed, as he be-lieved in calling things by their right names.

Col. Moody stated that when the report of the Committee on Itinerancy was under consideration on Monday, Mr. Lanahan had favored the adoption of the proposed amendment to strike out the word "disloyal," Upon this Col. Moody made a tew remarks, in which his intention was to say that Mr. Lanahan was in sympathy with this particular man to whom the matter referred. Mr. Lanahan then made a personal attack on Chair. He then retreated his remarks. To this Colonel Moody replied that he would rather appear on the record as endeavoring to affix the merited stigma on the secesh secretary who had absconded with the journals of the Baltimore Conference than to appear in sym-pathy with a rebel, in shielding him from the merited stigms. He did not charge at that time that Mr. Lanahan was in sympathy. He wished to withdraw the opinion expressed on Monday relative to his sympathy with disloyalty, as that opinion was mainly based upon Mr. Lanahan's action in the vote of the Balti-more Conference, by which a series of loval resolutions were laid upon the table. He was among the number so to vote. The speaker read the charges of disloyalty preferred in the papers against the Baltimore gentleman, al-though it was said that Mr. Lanahan and some to be considered as distoyal. He was glad to find that he so resented a suspicion of distoyality, although he (the speaker) was not in possession of all the facts in the premises when he made the charge on Monday.

Rev. Mr. Lanahan said he had naver realized until that day the idea of being called a traitor.

A charge of this kind once put forward can never be taken back. He was a loyal man, and during these troubles had never a feeling or stadow of a thought that was not in the fullest harmony with the Government, and by the Government he meant the Administration. During the consideration of the report of the committee on itinerancy yesterday, brother Moody and himself differed. This he had a right to do. But he made remarks which my frands said reflected upon myself. The speaker demanded an explanation, and Colonel Moody replied that from information re eived at Washington and the Baltimore Conference he believed he (the speaker) was in sympathy with the rebellion. The speaker had nothing further to say; be was willing that brother Moody should carry his own thoughts with him in the wrong that had been done him.
